

Local legend

The Historic Preservation Commission presented a Local Legends Award to David Carlin Sr. at last week's city council meeting. The award honors those who have had a positive and lasting impact on the culture, development and history of Round Rock. The Carlin family was instrumental in establishing Round Rock's first Catholic church, St. Williams. Commission member Berry Sullivan, right, said the Carlins helped many newcomers find employment in Round Rock and many of those families are an important part of the community today.
